

HOW TO DO

Silver eyes

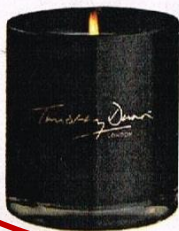

ISSEY MIYAKE
Spring/summer 2013

This sleek and romantic look at Issey Miyake was inspired by the soft iridescence of bird feathers. It's a great alternative to a smoky eye and is surprisingly easy to recreate. For a natural flush and brighter-than-bright complexion, start by massaging a penny-sized blob of Shu Uemura's Stage Performer Instant Glow (£36, liberty.co.uk) into the skin. Next, apply foundation and concealer sparingly. Rebecca Butterworth, a senior artist at Mac, suggests you then use a clear lip-gloss on the higher planes of the face (cheekbones, temples, bridge of the nose and Cupid's bow) to highlight the skin. Try Reflection High Shine Lip Gloss by Smashbox (£15, boots.com), which is shiny but not sticky. Finally, apply Super Slick Liquid Eyeliner in Nocturnal by Mac (£16.50, maccosmetics.co.uk) as a wash of colour across the eyelids. The colour should be strongest at the lash line and blended upwards to fade just before the crease. Refreshingly enough, you can skip the mascara.

I-SPIED

SONIA JUTTLA | Stella beauty editor

'The notes of wild jasmine, neroli and sandalwood in Timothy Dunn's Violette de Lune candle make for an intensely warming and exotic scent. Let's just say that if this were a perfume I'd be spritzing it on before a long and lazy summer evening.'

BYE-BYE PUFFY EYE

'Using your middle and ring fingers, press and glide a bit of eye cream around the bone of the eyes, moving towards the temples in one stroke. Repeat three times. This will help drain fluids and reduce puffiness'
Nathalie Eleni, Lancôme facialist
